Vanderbilt Wilson County Hospital

Vanderbilt Wilson County Hospital is proud to bring the strength and resources of Vanderbilt Health to the people of Lebanon and surrounding areas. From our first day, we have been focused on making health care personal for each member of this wonderful community.

The health of the community includes its financial strength and stability. We are pleased to have made a significant impact in this regard by employing many area residents—and having a medical staff of more than 200 physicians.

Accredited by The Joint Commission, Vanderbilt Wilson County Hospital is a two-campus facility that provides a wide range of inpatient and outpatient medical services. In addition to being an accredited chest pain center, primary stroke center, and comprehensive weight-loss center, we recently received approval as a state-certified Level III provisional trauma center.

Mission.

Through the exceptional capabilities and caring spirit of its people, Vanderbilt will lead in improving the health care of individuals and communities regionally, nationally and internationally. We will combine our transformative learning programs and compelling discoveries to provide distinctive, personalized care.

CALENDAR YEAR 2021 COMMUNITY IMPACT

There were many reasons Vanderbilt University Medical Center acquired the hospital in Lebanon, chief among them being expansion of access to high-quality, distinctive and personalized care. Embedded in this drive is serving the community and creating ties within it.

We're proud of our investments in making health care personal for each member of this community, including millions in capital investments and tens of millions in salaries that flow throughout the local economy.

But a healthcare system should be more than a place to heal; it should be a driver of health in everyday lives. Reaching beyond the walls of Vanderbilt Wilson County Hospital—and certainly beyond the walls of Vanderbilt Health's main campus in Nashville—is of the highest importance. This is why Vanderbilt Health has brought to Wilson County its commitment to sponsoring community programs and providing millions of dollars in uncompensated care.

We look forward to a future of working alongside the amazing individuals in Lebanon and advancing the health and well-being of the region.
